

BROKEN & BLENDED

ARTICULATION/PHONOLOGY CARDS

DIRECTIONS

Over view

Broken and Blended Articulation-Phonology Cards were designed to target students with articulation and phonology problems. Sometimes articulation problems can lead to reading problems, which are phonological in nature. Also, students with reading problems are often misled with words because they are not always spelled the way that they sound.

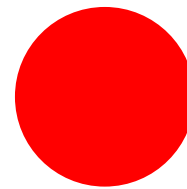

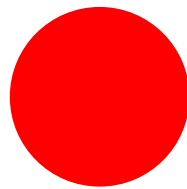

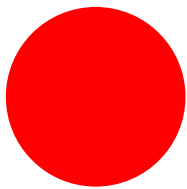

How to Use:

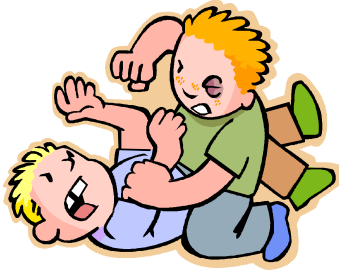

Hold the picture at the level of your mouth. First use the dots, to produce each sound individually. Point to the dot as you say each sound. Have the client repeat. Then blend the sound together by running your finger across the line as you say the word. Have the client repeat. Repeat as necessary.
